NMCD ANNOUNCES 2012 CENTENNIAL EVENTS

-Poster/Photography Contest and tours at the "Old Main" Prison-

Santa Fe- The New Mexico Corrections Department is hosting a Poster/Photo contest to honor New Mexico's prison history for the past 100 years. NMCD's goal is to collect the pictures you've taken or drawn representing the "Corrections" system for the past 100 years and display them in the new Prison museum. The New Mexico State Penitentiary "Old Main" prison will be opening for tours beginning on February 2, 2012 and we'd love to share your work!

Keep in mind that the Corrections Department is more than just prisons; there's Probation and Parole, Education, Records, the Training Academy, Community Corrections, Drug Court, the Parole Board, etc.. Submissions for the contest are due by January 20, 2012.

The flyer has been attached to the news release or it can also be found at the following link:

Also, the New Mexico Corrections Department will be hosting tours once a month at the New Mexico State Penitentiary "Old Main" prison in Santa Fe, beginning February 2, 2012. The "Old Main" is known for the prison riot that occurred on February 2, 1980.

The prison tours will be hosted once a month to display the history of New Mexico prisons for the past 100 years. The tours will be guided tours and guests will need to RSVP to rosie.sais@state.nm.us, before the event, in order for NMCD to maintain the size of the groups and to ensure well organized and educational tours.

All the information regarding the NMCD Centennial Events, including tour dates, can be found here:
